

Submissions

Thank you for your interest in submitting to Another Escape. We've recently made changes to our editorial processes that mean we no longer accept story pitches. We are open to receiving portfolios for review, although please note that we are an extremely small team, and sadly we don't have the capacity to get back to everyone or man our submissions inbox full time. However, we do go through submission emails periodically and catalogue people we would like to work with in the future. If a feature or project comes up that we feel you would be fitting for, we'll be sure to be in touch.

For portfolio submissions, please include the following:

- A short bio
- Links to portfolio or writing samples
- Areas of interest and/or expertise
- Where you are based

For the email subject line, please write the following: "Submission - [creative practice, i.e. photography, writing, illustration, videography, etc] - [where you are based]". Here's an example: "Submission - photography - London, UK". This will help us find you better if/when we have a project suited to you.

Thanks again!
